CHINAMEN SENT BACK.

The Collector Determined to Strictly Enforce the Provisions of the Law.

Two Chinamen accompanied by a United States Marshal and a lawyer, on their arrival by the City of Kingston from Port Townsend last evening, were at once sent back by Collector Milne, because they were not possessed of the certificates provided by law. Under the statute Chinamen who arrive here, after complying with the conditions of the law, by the payment of the usual fee, receive a certificate permitting them to reside here which in their leaving is surrendered, a certificate giving permission to leave and return being granted in its stead. The Chinamen in question appear to have left Victoria only a short time back: but neglected to obtain a permit to leave and return, the certificate which they showed to the American authorities being one of permission to reside here, and which was utterly valueless. They were, in consequence, sent back in the custody of a marshal. The lawyer they had brought with them was to support their side of the case. They seem to have obtained transportation to Kansas City. Collector Milne held that having left the country without permission to return they had forfeited their claim to such a document, and it was now for the United States authorities to deal with them, as under the law they have no claims upon this country.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

Spots in British Columbia Waters to be Avoided.

William Smith, deputy Canadian Minister of Marine, has issued the following, of interest to navigators sailing in British Columbia waters:

A wooden can buoy painted black has been bolted to the rock at the westernmost extremity of the reef off Reef Point, Moresby Island, off the south-east coast of Vancouver Island, British Columbia. Latitude north 48 degrees 43 minutes 50 seconds: longitude, west 123 degrees 20 minutes 15 seconds. Between the buoy and the point is a rock with only 1½ feet, leaving a channel 75 feet wide between that and the point.

Vessels using this channel must keep close alongside the point.

Information has been received from Rear-Admiral Chas. H. Hotham, R.N., Commander-in-Chief on the Pacific station, of the discovery by H.M.S. Espiegle of a rocky patch with sixteen feet least water on it, off Crocker Point, Saturna Island, Plumper Sound, off the southeast coast of Vancouver Island, British Columbia. Latitude north 48 degrees 46 minutes 35 seconds; longitude west 122 degrees 12 minutes 50 seconds. The patch lies about west by north 2¾ cables from Crocker Point, in a spot where the charts indicate 13 fathoms. It is of small extent, steep-to on its western, southern and eastern edges, but shoals gradually from 8 fathoms on its northern edge. Between this patch and Saturna Island the surroundings are irregular, from 8 to 20 fathoms.

The western extreme of Fane Island touching the north-east extreme of Pender Island, clears this patch in coming from the southward, and Lizard islet open of Elliot Bluff, clears its western edge.

The above information was obtained by personal examination by Lieutenant C. E. Pritchard, R.N., on August 27th, 1890.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

LACROSSE.

The lacrosse match at the Royal city today, between Vancouver and Westminster, is expected to be one of the hardest fought of the season. Some three weeks ago Vancouver defeated Westminster in an exhibition game at the Caledonian pic-nic, and last week the tables were turned in favor of Westminster at the exhibition, for 13 gold medals, after a closely contested match, by 3 goals to 2. The match to-day is the last in the series for the provincial championship and a handsome trophy, valued at $200, presented by a gentleman in Westminster and a lover of the game, at the commencement of the season. A. E. Wade, of the Victoria lacrosse club, has been requested to act as referee, and he left by boat this morning to fill the position.

SPRINTING.

A foot race at Beacon Hill, yesterday afternoon, distance 100 yards for $150 aside, between Peck, of Nanaimo, and Heywood, of Vancouver, resulted in a victory for the latter by one foot; time, 10.4-5 seconds. Peck is anxious to arrange a return race for $500.

ATHLETICS.

Lovers of boxing should not lose sight of the fact that this evening a grand complimentary benefit is to be tendered at The Victoria to Prof. R. Foster, in celebration of the opening of his gymnasium for the season. Local athletes will furnish a splendid programme, assisted by the men from the war ships and the fife and drum band of the Daphne.

THE RIFLE.

Decisive Action by the Employers Averts a Threatened Strike of Gas Men.

English Press Comment on the Recent Speech of Sir John Macdonald.

Scenes in Tipperary Police Court—Two Different Opinions of Church Fairs.

A STRIKE AVERTED.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—It is now thought that the strike of the stokers in the London Gas Light and Coke works, which was threatened as a result of the Gas Workers' union demanding the discharge of non-union men from the company's service, has been averted. The stokers deny that they ever intended to strike, but there is reason to believe that they were making preparations to attempt the enforcement of their demand and were led to adopt a different view of the situation only when they saw the determined action taken by the company in establishing board and lodging houses inside the works for non-union men, and inducing the authorities to order the military to protect them. These formidable preparations in the face of the strike overawed the men, and if they strike at all they will probably select some other time when they can catch the company unawares. There is some talk of the company's forcing the issue now, however, and also forcing its employes to renounce the union or leave its service.

SIR JOHN'S SPEECH.

Sir John Macdonald's speech at Halifax yesterday, which was cabled over here in extenso, attracts much attention in all quarters and causes much rejoicing among the Conservatives, who accept the Canadian premier's statements as voicing the sentiments of a majority of Her Majesty's subjects in the Dominion. In commenting upon the speech, the Conservative journals put stress on Sir John's low estimate of the strength of the annexationists and the party of Canadian independence, and declare that this authoritative utterance disposes effectually of the silly bluster of the small but noisy party of disloyalty. They also approve of the Premier's declaration that the Canadian market cannot be wrested from them by any such unfriendly but short-sighted measure on the part of the United States as the McKinley tariff act.

TWO OPINIONS.

Congregationalists in session at Swansea, and the church congress sitting at Hull, have both placed on record their solemn condemnation of gambling, which they deplore as one of the greatest and most widespread evils with which Christianity has to cope with, but while thus agreeing upon the main question the two ecclesiastical bodies develop a marked variance in their judgment in regard to certain practises which are generally regarded by the laity as coming under the general definition of gambling, namely lotteries, which are so common a feature of entertainments gotten up for the benefit of churches and their auxiliary organizations. The congregational union includes these trials of chance in its category of forbidden things, and urges its churches not to bring scandal upon religion and cherish a cause of stumbling by sanctioning them. The church congress on the other hand throws the mantle of charity around such lotteries as are conducted wholly with a pious object in view and in connection with which no profits accrue to individuals. They are treated simply as amusements, which harmlessly attract revenue to a good cause, and do not give rise to unholy passions and disastrous consequences involved in ordinary gambling.

EVERYONE MUST SUFFER.

At the Lambeth police court to-day, council for the crown said that if the Slavin-McAuliffe fight was held by the court to have been unlawful, those arranging the preliminaries and abetting the proceedings would also be prosecuted. The decision in the fight case has been postponed one week.

BLAVATSKY WINS.

At Kempton Park to-day, the race for the Kempton Park great breeder's produce stakes were won by Mr. R. Swanwick's chestnut filly Blavatsky.

THE STOKERS' THREATENED STRIKE.

The stokers of the Gas Light company of London threaten to inaugurate another strike because of the employment of non-unionists. The directors held a meeting today, at which it was resolved to emphatically decline to confine themselves to the employment of union labor. The storm has been brewing for months, and the present contemplated strike, if it occurs, will undoubtedly assume six times the proportions of its predecessors. In anticipation of the prolonged struggle the company has caused to be erected a number of long sheds within the works. Hundreds of beds have been provided, and already 800 soldiers at Chatham barracks have received orders to hold themselves in readiness to march at a moment's notice to the protection of the gas-works, and of the blacklegs who may apply for or receive employment therein. Each soldier has been served with 20 rounds of ball cartridges.

NOT NEEDED NOW.

An order to keep troops at Chatham under arms in anticipation of a strike among the employes of the London Gas Light & Coke Co. has been countermanded.

COURT ROOM SCENES.

In the trial of the Nationalists to-day, Timothy Harrington, counsel for the accused, while cross-examining a witness, referred to a policeman as a shadow. The presiding magistrate called upon him to withdraw the term, and, upon Mr. Harrington's refusing to do so, ordered him to leave the case. An uproar ensued in the court room, amid which O'Brien and Dillon expressed their minds freely in regard to the magistrate's action and the general conduct of the case. Court was adjourned for half-an-hour to put an end to the confusion; when it re-assembled, Mr. Harrington's clients announced that they would defend themselves without counsel. Dillon was proceeding to address the bench, when the crowd in the court soon raised a cheer for Harrington. The magistrate at once ordered the room cleared, and abruptly adjourned court, while tumult reigned among the spectators. A large force of police were massed outside the building.

In addition to the warehouse absolutely consumed by the flames, a number of others were more or less damaged by fire and water. The loss, it is estimated, will reach a million and a half pounds sterling.

AGRICULTURE ADVANCES

Noticeably in the Pacific Province, Says His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor.

Victoria's Fair Opened Under most Favorable Auspices to Nearly 4,000 People.

British Columbia to be an Agricultural Country—The Exhibition Proves it—Notes.

Victoria weather dawned on the first day of the Victoria fair yesterday and made people and things look cheerful and buoyant. The exhibition building, with its collection of varied wealth, had assumed an appearance of settled order and permanency, soon to be the object of admiring interest by the restless tide of humanity which poured in and out with seeming endlessness. Indeed, despite the fact comparatively little effort was made to "boom" the show, there was a most unexpectedly large attendance. The scene at the exhibition was a lively one; the exhibits looked all the better and were far more interesting from the fact that they had been decorated with their owners' names as well as the awards given them. It was thus possible to take an intelligent interest in a number of things that were partial blanks the day before. One of these was Mr. G. Roedde's sample collection of bookbinding and manufacturing, which were by an unintentional error attributed to another man in yesterday's issue. Mr. Roedde, like all earnest tradesmen, would have liked to see some competition against him. Had this been the case, in many branches besides bookbinding, the judges' duties would have been more difficult, many weak points in branches of a grade would have been shown up and much valuable information gleaned, resulting beneficially to the industry concerned. As it was, there were several single entries and a consequent walk over in prize drawing. Apart from this, and as a display of agricultural and commercial industry, the whole was encouraging and creditable to the province.

Inside, all was cheerful, comfortable, almost cosy, and as His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Nelson went their round of inspection, they bestowed unstinted praise on almost everything. His Honor particularly took an intelligent interest in the farm products, which he examined carefully, and asked for information respecting the various samples. The distinguished visitors were attended by Mr. Dalby, president, and Mr. Renouf, secretary of the association, who conducted them through the entire building. At the close of their tour they took up a position on the platform facing the grounds, in which had assembled a large concourse of people.

His Honor, having been announced by Mr. Dalby, approached and said:

Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen: Two years ago I had the honor of opening the agricultural exhibition in Victoria and since that time I have noticed the great advancement that has taken place in agriculture. The present exhibition is very much ahead of that occasion. During the past couple of weeks I have had the pleasure of opening a number of exhibitions in the New Westminster district, and I was really astounded at the wonderful improvement of agricultural interests and the general prosperity of the farmers and the country generally. Agricultural exhibitions have been taking place all over the province, and all of them, I have reason to believe, have been most successful. Indeed, this country, which has hitherto been considered only fit for mining, lumbering and fishing, is rapidly becoming a rich agricultural country, which develops as time goes on. We all know that the lands in the valley of the Fraser and those of the Delta are unsurpassed for fertility. The low-lying land along the coast of Vancouver Island partakes of the same to a great extent. Much of the land that has been covered with forests, that was thought absolutely incapable of development, has been cleared of the timber that covered it, and proved to be of the greatest fertility. On the townsite of New Westminster, Mr. T. Cunningham, the late member for the district, has cultivated five acres of land which was formerly of the character of which I have spoken. Last year, I am told on very good authority, he grew over $4,000 worth of strawberries on this land (hear, hear). Something of the character, I believe, has been done here this year; although I have not heard exactly what has been done. If we dwell upon the fact that such an amount of money has been produced from a small quantity of land of that description, we cannot say that British Columbia is not an agricultural country (hear, hear). I have now great pleasure claring the exhibition open.

Mr. Dalby called for three ch the governor, which were given with vim and vigor. Of course, it would have been discourteous on the part of the assembled people to dispense without a cheer for Mrs. Nelson, whose amiability has won for her a deserved popularity; so they gave her a good one, three combined in one, and then the populace set about examining the collection, a detailed description of which appeared in yesterday's issue.

"C" Battery band, in bright uniform, under the capable direction of Mr. Pferdner, filled the air with music.

Outside, the principle features were the stables, and as the horse judging went on all day the people had an opportunity of witnessing an excellent display of equine beauty. All—that is the horoughbreds—commanded admiration. As each horse possessed his particular recommendations, there was material to suit all tastes, from the lover of the dainty thoroughbred, tracing his descent from the firey Arab, to the equally thoroughbred but colossal draught. In the former, Mr. W. J. Taylor's beautiful Kisber took the prize for the best stallion, while Mr. Roderick Tolmie's "Gypsy," by "Bowker's Mac," out of "Fairy Fern," took first prize for the best buggy horse shown.

J. T. Wilkinson was remarkably successful in all his exhibits; in one (pigs) he had three entries for which there unfortunately happened to be no class, but the judges perceiving their merit, granted diplomas. In addition to this he had been offered $500 for the foal of his standard-bred trotter "Nellie Fox," as soon as the little one is weaned.

In poultry Dr. Milne's name shows conspicuously as a prize winner for partridge cochins, light brahmas and black minorcas.

The attendance yesterday was very large, numbering probably four thousand people, proving the inadequacy of both the buildings and grounds for another year's exhibition, and forcing upon the directorate the imperative necessity of seeking more commodious quarters.

Foster & McKay are among the leading exhibitors of cattle. Their stock farm is on Lulu Island, and they make a specialty of thoroughbred Holsteins. Their exhibition herd consists of eight head, including the prize cow, Lady Gray, a magnificent beast, two less important cows, two young bulls and two heifers. All are first-class and received five prizes here. At New Westminster they swept the list in their class. One of the young bulls shown is a grade between a Durham and a Holstein, a good mixture. The firm have at their ranch a total herd of 100; they raise all their heifer calves and sell the thoroughbreds for dairying and the grades for beef. Shipments of Holsteins to Japan have already commenced, and an extensive trade in this direction appears to be opening. Prof. Robertson, during his recent visit to the province, spent a day at the farm, and expressed himself as being greatly pleased with it; one of the calves was selected for the Dominion Government experimental farm at Agassiz.

To-day there will be a grand parade of the horse exhibit at 2 o'clock, and, besides other attractions, the I.O.O.F. orchestra will perform the following programme at the art exhibition this evening:

Overture—Lebenslust .... Latann
Waltz—Haunting Eyes .... Tobani

NOTES BY THE WAY.

The pyramid of canned salmon at the exhibition was composed of all the well-known brands for which R. P. Rithet & Co., Robert Ward & Co., Findlay, Durham & Brodie, and Turner Beeton & Co. are agents. The fisherman brand (F. D. & B., agents) was awarded first prize.

Everyone said W. J. Taylor, although a lawyer, knew a good horse, and knew how how to keep him when they saw "Kisber" in the ring. The judges looked at him and forgot the others.

ATHLETIC SPORTS.

The directorate have planned a programme of sports at the grounds, and should the clerk of the weather not frown on the proceedings they will be very bright otherwise. A look at the advertisement in another column will give all information on that point.

The man who minds the moon so as to save the electric light was seen standing at the door of the city electric building Thursday night looking anxiously and eagerly for something which eventually proved to be the moon. The lunar queen appeared behind a bank of dark clouds, pale, and struggling. The man espied her, and rebuking her for being so late, at once bottled up the electric light and putting the corkscrew in his pocket went joyfully home. The exhibition buildings were plunged in immediate darkness.

A PERILOUS TRIP.

The Terrible Experience of a Victorian On an Ocean Greyhound While Crossing the Atlantic.

The Vessel Dashes Into a Monster Iceberg and Escapes Total Destruction Miraculously.

Mr. William Craft, who returned from England a few weeks ago, had an experience in crossing the Atlantic on the royal mail steamship Vancouver, of the Dominion line, which few Victorians will envy, and which Mr. Craft would not care to again undergo.

The Vancouver sailed from Liverpool with nearly 600 passengers on board. Very soon after leaving Moville, on Friday night, she encountered a strong head wind and heavy sea, which continued with increased force till Monday morning, when the wind blew a furious gale and the sea rolled mountains high, tossing the monster vessel about in a terrific manner. The tables in the saloon were set for breakfast with the greatest difficulty, and after they were ready a lurch of the ship knocked the glass, chinaware and provisions on the floor. A similar scene was witnessed in the second cabin. Confusion prevailed everywhere. Many persons were thrown from their berths; decanters, bottles, glass, etc. were upset and dashed about the state-rooms. Tons of water dashed over the main deck fore and aft, many passengers were drenched, and a few were thrown off their feet and dashed against the bulwarks. This state of things lasted till late on Tuesday night when the wind and sea moderated, but was followed by heavy rain all day Wednesday.

Thursday opened fair, but in the afternoon rain again began to fall, and a dense fog set in shortly afterward. Immense icebergs had been seen in the distance, seven of these monsters being visible at once. Capt. Lyndall decided to lay to till the fog lifted. The vessel was approaching the entrance to the Straits of Belle Isle. Toward morning the vessel was again started and proceeded slowly. Land was sighted at the South at about eight o'clock and numerous icebergs were passed. Exciting and terrible had been the voyage, but it was on Friday morning at 10 o'clock that the most dangerous and thrilling event happened. Fog had once more set in and speed had been reduced to a dead slow. A sharp look-out was kept from the boat as well as by two officers, one being the captain on the bridge. All at once what was thought to be a dense fog bank was observed about three lengths of the vessel ahead, but in a moment more it was discovered to be a huge iceberg extending to a great distance on either side of the course of the ship, and a collision was inevitable.

The order was instantly telegraphed to the engineers to reverse the engines, but too late to diminish the speed to any very noticeable extent, though the demand was promptly executed. By this time the passengers on deck saw the situation and the consternation was indescribable. Women screamed and fainted, and the widest confusion prevailed during the few anxious moments before the crash came. Chief Engineer Murphy was conversing with Chief Officer Walsh on the main deck aft when the alarm sounded. He turned quickly, looked over the railing, and seeing the threatening calamity, rushed into the engine room and ordered the doors of the water-tight compartments to be closed all through the ship, so that before the ship struck the ice this wise arrangement was accomplished, to the horror of one coal heaver who was imprisoned in one compartment, time being considered too precious to allow him an opportunity to escape.

The engines reversed did little good, for she struck the huge berg with a crash that sent a thrill of horror to the bravest heart. Tons of ice fell down upon her deck, and the 600 passengers aboard were thrown into a panic. Many of them rushed for life preservers and the crew for the boats, but the ship's officers were very cool, and through their efforts the more excited of the passengers were finally calmed. The steamer's bow ran into the berg a distance of fifteen feet, and she raised herself out of the water five to ten feet by sliding on the ice. She was so tightly wedged in that it was twenty minutes before her engines were able to break her off the berg. An examination was immediately made of plates, but only one, and that above the water line, was found to have been damaged. Many women among the passengers fainted, and several were ill until they landed at Rimouski, Saturday night. Only to the coolness of the officers and crew was due the averting of a continuance of the panic and an excited rush for the boats.

The company tried to keep the matter quiet, but the passengers told the story, and say that only ten minutes before striking the berg the steamer had been running at full speed. If this had been kept up to the time the fog bank was sighted she would certainly have broken up and sunk in a few minutes, and there would have been no one to tell the tale. The vicinity is between Newfoundland and Labrador and the most dangerous and desolate part of the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

A MAN HALF DRESSED RUSHES FRANTICALLY TO CATCH A TRAIN.

Quite recently the passengers on the G.T.R. East bound train, as it stopped at Morrisburg, Ont., were astonished to see an elderly man rush at full speed down the road towards the station. As he came nearer it was seen that he was scantily dressed, suggesting to all the fact that he had hurriedly risen from his bed and was in great dread of being left behind. His perseverance and speed saved him; he reached the train fatigued and breathless just as it was moving off, and getting on, uttered the significant word "safe." He was soon comfortably seated and at once began to finish his dressing. He was evidently satisfied and pleased that his hopes and expectations would be realized when he reached his destination and that all would be well.

The writer was a passenger on this train and witnessed the incident, and for days after thought of that word "safe," uttered as the car was reached.

There are men and women to-day who, from a physical stand-point, are only half clothed, half prepared, and who are rushing on in the vain hope of accomplishing the multifarious duties of this eventful life.

Their physical condition certainly precludes the possibility of any success to benefit themselves or others. Their bodies are weakened from disease of some form, and while in this condition they are unable to cope with their stronger and more healthy brethren in the battle of life. They do not stand "safe" on the swiftly running train of time; their existence is made uncertain to themselves. Some are nervous, sleepless, weak and irritable; some suffer hourly from the cruel pangs of dyspepsia or chronic indigestion; others are martyrs to kidney disease and liver complaint, while multitudes are miserably unhappy owing to an imperfect circulation, and their whole system is full of impure and poisonous blood.

True perseverance is necessary to enable such sufferers to gain the goal of their ambition - perfect health. Like the half clad passenger reaching the railway train, they must press forward and grasp without delay the only life-giving remedy that can them safely over the rocks and shoals of disease.

That remedy, sure and unfailing, is Paine's Celery Compound, and is the only preparation in the world that can thoroughly restore the great nerve system and build up a sound and healthy body. Paine's Celery Compound is rapidly becoming the great popular family remedy, and to-day stands without a peer for the effectual curing of disease; and to such a high eminence has its fame and credit been advanced that now the best physicians on the American continent prescribe it and advocate its general use in all climates.

SOCIETY ALL AGOG.

A Delightful Divorce Scandal Brewing in Chicago—Full of Prurient Details.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—A scandal in high life, which will shake society from centre to circumference, has been brewing for some time, and now culminates in a threatened suit for divorce. The people concerned are members of two of Chicago's best known families. R. W. Rathborne, jr., a young commission man and a son of R. W. Rathborne, sr., the big flour merchant and capitalist, makes charges of undue intimacy between his handsome and cultivated wife, who is a daughter of A. J. Pullman and niece of George M. Pullman, and Dr. J. W. Chisholm, a New York doctor, who has a wife and children living in Gotham.

Mr. Rathborne married Miss Pullman in 1877 and the wedding was a society event of great magnitude. Dr. Chisholm came to Chicago to attend her for a cancer, and thus became acquainted with Mrs. Rathborne. He is a man of 54 years of age. For a long time he lived in the Rathborne house, but some time since young Rathborne, it is claimed, ejected him. He obtained great influence over Mr. Rathborne, who counted him as his best friend. When people told him of the talk coupling Chisholm's name with that of his wife, he refused to believe it.

R. W. Rathborne, however, for two years has had detectives on his daughter-in-law's track, with the result, as he claims, of securing proof. Not only will the case be sensational because of the prominence of the parties to it, but also on account of the prurient details which the hearing of the testimony will develop should matters come up in court.

Mrs. Rathborne and Dr. Chisholm enter an emphatic denial of the story in all its nasty details. The fair defendant said to-day that she had been wife in name only to Mr. Rathborne for eight years past. She alleges gross infidelity on his part, and says the only reason she did not apply for a divorce long ago was because she could not bear to bring on her family the indescribable notoriety that divorce proceedings would entail. She will now likely bring a counter suit.

Dr. Chisholm was indignant at the aspersion on his character. "That I lived at the house of Mr. and Mrs. Rathborne is true, and that I was their friend is true, but that I ever had any relations with Mrs. Rathborne that might not have been witnessed by her husband and by all men, is an absolute lie," said Dr. Chisholm.

THE FRETFUL OPPOSITION.

The Liberals in Eastern Canada are pursuing a singular course with respect to the trade between the Dominion and the United States. They scout the good advice and refuse the encouragement given by Sir John Macdonald, Sir John Thompson, Lord Stanley, Lord Aberdeen and the Minister of Finance and insist upon advocating reciprocity with the United States after that country has contemptuously repelled their advances. They are doing their best to convince the people of this country that there are no new channels of trade available and that since it has pleased their very dear friends the Americans to bar their doors against the introduction of Canadian farm products all that they have to do is to sit down and sulk, grumbling the while at the Conservative Government and the Conservative majority in the House of Commons. When Sir John Macdonald tells Canadians cheerily to make the best of a bad job, they abuse him and declare that nothing can be done. They would fain throw the responsibility of the McKinley tariff on Sir John Macdonald and his supporters but they find that they are laughed at as often as they venture to do so. They have therefore given up the attempt but they refuse to be comforted. The attitude of those who speak for the Liberal Party is undignified and unreasonable. They persist in crying over spilt milk.

We are quite sure that when sensible Liberals contrast the cheerful and courageous utterances of the Leader of the Dominion Government with the vain and purposeless complaints and the unmanly whinings of their own organs, they must feel ashamed. It is observable that no prominent Liberal has addressed the public on the commercial situation since the reciprocity proposals have been rejected by Congress and the passage of the McKinley tariff has become certain. The leading men of that party appear to be undecided. They have not come forward to encourage and advise those who look to them for guidance. They are silent, while their newspapers waste their space in trying to make the situation look blacker than it really is. What is Mr. Laurier doing? Where is Sir Richard Cartwright? Has Mr. Mills' philosophy failed him? Are they all paralyzed? Has the McKinley tariff struck them dumb? Are they so convinced that the existence of the Dominion depends on the favor of the United States that they are in the depths of despondency now that those with whom they have been carrying on a political flirtation during the last three or four years have shut the door in their faces and left them in the lurch? By and by, perhaps, they will get over their disappointment and take heart. They will see that Sir John Macdonald's cheerful philosophy is the one for the people to adopt, and they may aid him in devising ways and means to meet the difficulty which the loss of so large a proportion of the trade with the United States will be sure to create. This may be hoped, but it is hardly to be expected. The probability is that the spirit of faction will prevail, and that they will spend their time and exercise their talents in endeavoring to decry and to frustrate the remedial measures that may be devised by the Government.

We gather from the speeches of the members of the Government that the course they intend to take, and the one which they advise the people to pursue, is to do what they can to prove to the world that Canada, in matters of trade, can prosper, no matter what policy it may please the Government of the United States to adopt, but that, although they are prepared to assert and maintain their commercial independence, they are always ready, when the Americans desire a fair measure of reciprocity, to meet them more than half way. This policy is, it seems to us, dictated by common sense and self-respect, and we are much mistaken if the great majority of the people of Canada will not support it heartily.

A NEW CHANNEL.

The Toronto Empire, in looking about for new channels of trade, has come to the conclusion that the Canadian pig can be used with advantage to neutralize to a considerable extent the effect of the McKinley tariff. The American foreign trade in hog products is very large. The Empire asks, in effect, why Canada cannot have a large share of it? European and South American markets are as free to Canadians as they are to Americans. The hog is, or ought to be, as easily raised in Canada as it is in the United States. What, then, is there to hinder Canada increasing its export of pork, bacon and lard to an indefinite extent? The Empire's reasoning appears sound, and, as far as we can see, its figures are encouraging. Here are some of them:

"Let us look at the trade figures for a few moments and learn from them the enormous demand which exists in other countries for the products of the hog. Take, in the first place, the imports by Great Britain in 1889, and see, at the same time, how much of that demand was met by the United States and how little by Canada. The figures are as follows:

	Total lbs.	From Canada.	From U. S.
Pork	13,310,400	805,840	21,505,352
Bacon & Hams	502,220,056	33,206,144	384,130,096
Lard	153,577,248	4,168,720	128,821,840
Total	679,107,744	38,210,704	534,458,288

But that is not all. Not only does Canada supply a small proportion of the British demands for the products of the hog, but she has imported a considerable quantity from the United States. Last year the imports were: Pork, 15,205,972 lbs.; bacon and hams, 3,653,758 lbs., and lard, 8,287,761 lbs. Thus it will be seen that we imported almost as many pounds of pork, bacon, ham and lard as we exported to Great Britain. The Hon. Mr. Carling has already called attention to this fact, and is now doing all he can to induce our farmers to take up hog raising on an extensive scale. As we said, a moment ago, there is a very wide market. For the purpose of illustrating this point, we take, for convenience, the figures of United States exports. Last year the shipments abroad were:—

	Number of lbs.	Value.
Lard	358,312,089	$27,322,573
Bacon	352,377,399	29,372,231
Hams	42,217,247	1,779,676
Fresh pork	24,799	1,958
Salted pork	64,117,845	4,633,415
Total	782,601,275	$63,716,701

These figures show the magnitude of the trade; but it is of equal importance to notice the distribution of this class of exports. Leaving out the smaller sales, the countries which made the purchases of bacon alone were as follows:

	Lbs.
Belgium	17,161,594
Brazil	1,046,711
Denmark	288,240
England	288,679,781
Scotland	11,116,675
Germany	531,597
Canada	28,007,296
B. W. Indies	198,510
Netherlands	825,761
Dutch Guiana	104,065
Cuba	3,319,936
Porto Rico	519,180
Sweden and Norway	3,032,824

We have selected bacon for the purpose of this illustration, because it is the chief item of export in this regard. Here, then, is a wide distribution, and if the smaller sales had been included it would have been seen that the West Indies and the South American States are large consumers of the products of the hog. To all of these markets Canada has easy access.

British Columbia, from its situation and its circumstances, could not take part in this foreign pork trade, but it could, with very little extra exertion, raise its own pork. A very considerable proportion of the pork which was, in 1889, imported from the United States came to British Columbia. Under the new state of things, caused by the enactment of the McKinley tariff, the pork consumed in this province ought to be raised at home, and we trust that the time is not far distant when British Columbia farmers will be looking abroad for a market for their hog products.

AN ENVIOUS NEIGHBOR.

The Vancouver World, of the 1st instant, contains an article on "A Dry Dock," in which there are some extraordinary assertions. Our contemporary, of course, claims that, if a second dry dock is to be built, Vancouver is the place for it. If it had stopped there those who read the article might have imagined that there are some grounds for the claim, but the reasons that it gives to substantiate it have conclusively shown that the dry dock should not be at Vancouver.

It states in the first place that Vancouver is "the greatest shipping port in British Columbia." This is ridiculously untrue. Vancouver is very far, indeed, from being the greatest shipping port of British Columbia. Victoria occupies that position, and the indications are that it will long continue to occupy it. It is the port nearest the Pacific. It is easy of approach. The ship bound for Victoria is not obliged to navigate a strait thickly studded with islands. She has not to thread her way through narrow channels, in which the slightest deviation from her course would cause disaster. The harbor of Esquimalt, in which the dry dock is situated, is one of the finest in the world. The anchorage in it is good and the shelter perfect. Vessels needing repairs can get to it readily and without incurring the slightest danger. If then the dry dock is to be situated near the greatest shipping port of the province as well as the safest and most convenient in every respect, Esquimalt is the place for it.

Our contemporary waxes eloquent over the prospects of Vancouver. When the trade to Australia and South America is opened up it is to become very important indeed. Hard-headed business men have very little sympathy with those who are perpetually building castles in the air. They want something more substantial on which to base their calculations than baseless dreams and flimsy theories. Besides, experience has shown every one that as the trade of the province increases that of the port of Victoria increases in equal proportion. It is, in fact, the increase of Victoria's trade by which the general increase is measured. It is so far ahead of all the other ports that the trade of any of the others, Vancouver included, sinks into insignificance when compared with it.

The World is not wise when it jeers Victoria with having no more connection with the China and Japan steamers than to hear the toot of their whistles as they steam past. Victoria has been treated with injustice with respect to those steamers in the past, but she has the word of the President of the C.P.R., that the steamers of the Company's line will call at Victoria, and we have no doubt that the promise which he has made will be performed, so that the time is not very far off when Victorians will receive a direct benefit from the Pacific steamship lines. And it can be seen that when any of them needs repairs it will be much more convenient to have those repairs done at Esquimalt than at Vancouver.

The World is kind enough to say that "the action of the Victorians should be carefully watched. Their scheme is a deep one, and if successful would prove a black-eye to the maritime and commercial supremacy of the Terminal City." Victorians are pretty well used to being watched by certain busy-bodies in the "Terminal City," but they have pursued the even tenor of their way perfectly indifferent to the watching. And in this matter of the dry-dock they will do what their own interest, and the interests of the province, demand without caring in the least whether the sharp and envious eyes across the gulf are watching them or not. As to giving Vancouver's "maritime and commercial supremacy" a "black-eye," it would be very hard, indeed, to do that, for the supremacy does not exist. That supremacy is nothing more substantial than a creation of the imagination of a few Vancouver boomers and bouncers. The maritime and commercial supremacy of British Columbia has its seat on the Island of Vancouver. Victorians are not in the habit of bragging about it. They leave offensive self-assertion to a few citizens of Vancouver, who seem to have the idea that they can make themselves and their city rich and important by indulging in tall talk. But these inflationists should read the fable of the frog and the ox. If they have wit enough to find out its moral its perusal would benefit them greatly. If the World can give no better reasons for having the dry-dock in Vancouver than are set forth in the article we have been considering, it will certainly be constructed in Esquimalt.

A BURNING SORE LEG

Ulcers Form. Hospitals and Doctors Useless. Crazed with Pain. Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

About eight years ago I wrote you from Wilkesbarre, Pa., describing how your wonderful remedies completely cured me of a terrible case of eczema or salt rheum. I must now tell you what CUTICURA REMEDIES have done for me. On the 22nd of last September, I had the misfortune to bruise my leg, and I put a piece of sticking plaster on it. Inside of a week I had a terrible leg. My wife became frightened and advised me to go to a surgeon. I went, and doctored for two months, but no good was done me, besides costing me big money. My leg had by this time formed into an ulcer, and got worse every day. I could not stand it any longer, and made up my mind to go to a hospital and see if I could be helped. I went to several here in the city, in turn, but none could do me any good. I had a terrible leg with a hole in it as big as a dollar, and pain that almost set me crazy. I got scared about it, and determined to try CUTICURA REMEDIES. I obtained a set, and inside of five weeks my leg was healed up as well as it ever was, except the terrible scar it left for a reminder of what was once a terrible sore leg. These REMEDIES are worth their weight in gold.

The Annual Meeting

Of the British Columbia Agricultural Association will be held at the City Hall this evening. As the question of erecting new buildings, upon new grounds, next year will be fully discussed, there should be a full attendance of everyone interested in the success of the society.

A Social Entertainment.

On Wednesday evening a social entertainment to members and friends will be held in the rooms of the Y. M. C. A., the object being to receive the report of the delegates to the Portland Convention and generally to consider matters of interest to the organization. The meeting is expected to be of more than ordinary importance.

Art Exhibition.

A number of pictures will be withdrawn from the art exhibition at the City hall after this evening, to be shown at the Vancouver exhibition, which commences next week, so all who have not seen the pictures here should go to-day. This evening, the I.O.O.F. orchestra will play a choice selection. The exhibition will close on Tuesday next.

Improving Chatham Street.

After many delays in obtaining the consent of property owners to the use of their land, there is a probability that the work of widening and grading Chatham street will now be pushed forward. The Street committee at a meeting yesterday decided to accept Mr. Baker's offer and allow the work to be entered upon at once.

Young Men's Christian Association.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Young Men's Christian Association was held in the rooms, Broad street, last evening, Mr. T. M. Henderson, in the chair. Reports from the officers and committees were received. Some routine business was also transacted. An effort will be made this month to secure all the money needed to carry on the work the coming year: $850 has already been secured.

They Are Passing Away.

The thin ranks of the pioneers of '59 lost another of their number yesterday morning, when Edwin Donald, a well-known citizen and successful miner, died at his home on Michigan street, in this city. The deceased was born in Corwell, England, 70 years ago, and mined in Cariboo until '72, when he was paralyzed. From that time he has resided continuously in this city, where he will be missed by many friends he has made through his consistent Christian life.

The Young Men.

It is said that the sermon by Rev. Mr. White, on Sunday morning last, in the Pandora Avenue Methodist church, on the claims of young men to the social consideration of church members, is the prelude to a concerted endeavor to have a number of households opened to the reception and entertainment of the young men without social connections in this city, who have been accustomed to attend church services, but are, as it were, being frozen out on account of the lack of sympathy hitherto manifested towards them.

Christ Church Cathedral.

A meeting of the canvassing committee for the proposed new Christ Church Cathedral was held last night in the school house, Mr. Justice Crease presiding. After the secretary had read the resolutions of the general meeting appointing the committee it was resolved to draft a circular letter to be sent throughout the diocese explaining the scheme and strongly advocating it, the meeting adjourned until Tuesday 7th inst. at four o'clock p.m. at the Cathedral School-room. It is understood that there has been a hearty response to the canvass already made, which is being vigorously prosecuted.

Selling the Lawyers.

Yesterday morning, an official of the County Court having occasion to procure a book from the judges' desk ascended the bench, on which the lawyers and all present mechanically rose to their feet. It was only when the bland smile of the object of attention showed that a mistake had been committed, that the situation was realized, since no display was made of forensic eloquence by any of the parties. The laugh that burst forth on all sides would not have been in any way tolerated by the legitimate occupant of the seat, who might have been disposed to commit the offenders against judicial propriety.

Radiators.

The Safford Radiator, manufactured by the Toronto Radiator Co., Toronto, Ont., proves a very strong acquisition to the Exhibition. Put together as they are, free from all packing between the loops, places them far ahead of all competitors. Their agents, Messrs. Richardson & Heathorn, would specially call the attention of the public to this fact while attending the Exhibition. The SAFFORD RADIATOR, heated by the Spence Daisy Boiler, will furnish heat suitable for all requirements at a less coast than any hot water heating apparatus in use. For beauty and design the SAFFORD RADIATOR surpasses all others. Parties contemplating the use of steam or hot water for heating either their stores, warehouses, or private residences would find it to their advantage to consult the provincial agents for the Safford Radiator and Daisy Boiler, Messrs. Richardson & Heathorn. It*

Wide Tires.

The local wagon makers and blacksmiths received a number of orders for four-inch tires yesterday from the farmers of Saanich district. The law compelling the use of tires of this width for loads of one ton weight is now in force, and as it cannot be altered or extended to suit any petitioners, the residents of the district will, no doubt, not lose any time in conforming to its provisions. The law, which was passed in 1889, enacts as follows: "After 1st October, 1890, it shall be unlawful for any wagon or vehicle carrying a load of more than two thousand pounds weight avoirdupois to be drawn on any of the highways of the Victoria District unless the tires of such wagon or vehicles shall be at least four inches in width." The penalty for the first offence is not less than $10 nor more than $25, and for a second or subsequent offence not less than $25 nor more than $50.

The Esquimalt Tramway.

The first car, over the extension to Esquimalt of the National Electric Tramway, will not go over the route until Tuesday or Wednesday, as arrangements for turning on the electric current will not be complete before that time.

Programme.

PART I.

Ladies, you are respectfully invited to call and inspect the fall and winter novelties at the Lansdowne House, Yates St. John Partridge, prop.

Good-Bye.

The Russell Jewell company closed their five nights' engagement with the best house of the week last night. The play was "Fanchon, the Cricket," and it was conceded to be the most successful of the engagement. From Victoria the company go to Nanaimo.

The City Flag.

On Thursday, Mr. Thomas Partridge, the oldest employe in the municipal service of Victoria, hoisted a new flag on the recently completed tower of the City Hall. The occasion of the Exhibition was considered to be an eminently fitting one to inaugurate the new flag and the new tower.

Police Court.

Although yesterday was a civic holiday the police court was opened and conducted in regular form, the idea being to allow the accused to enjoy the festivities, provided their fines were paid or their cases dismissed. The following "drunks" were fined $5; but whether their pockets were equal to the emergency deponent sayeth not: Dan Hunter, George McLean, David Davis, and John Wetler, the latter an Indian.

Victoria's Holiday.

Yesterday's civic holiday was monopolized by the fair, and the streets were deserted in consequence. Almost every store was closed in order that the proprietor and employes might enjoy the day, but the decorations asked for by the Mayor and agricultural society were conspicuous only by their absence. Only a few flags were floating, and here the "tasteful" adornment of the city stopped.

W. C. T. U.

The Provincial Women's Christian Temperance Union will hold their annual convention in Calvary Baptist church on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday next. The convention meets each day at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., and public meetings at 8 o'clock. The night meetings will be first in the Baptist church, then in St. Andrew's Presbyterian, and on Thursday in the Pandora street Methodist. Prof. Odlum lectures o Wednesday, his subject being "The liquor traffic of Canada."

He Forgot Himself.

No doubt attracted by the hope of catching some verdant visitor to the fair, two young men with a thimble rigging outfit held forth for a few brief minutes at Beacon Hill yesterday. They were just explaining to two or three spectators how it was that "now you see it and now you dont," when a young man formerly a member of the city police force strolled along. The sharpers had probably become acquainted in days gone by, for they deserted their stand and gave a neat and impromptu exhibition of very good sprinting. Forgetting himself the ex-officer gave chase, first kicking over and demolishing the stock in trade. After chasing the running operators about half-a-mile he suddenly recollected that he was no longer sworn to protect the public, and abandoned the pursuit.

Breaking Broncbos.

Yesterday, both morning and evening, travelers on Douglas street were treated to a free exhibition of horsemanship by confreres of the "Cowboy Evangelist," their mission being to convert cantankerous cayuses into well conditioned and reliable roadsters. Some of the operations were almost as interesting as those that are to be witnessed in the traveling shows of Buffalo Bill and others of his class, the difference being that while in the one case the demonstrations of viciousness are natural, in the other they are the result of careful training. One of the boys, mounted on a docile gray, which he affectionately called "Old Bill," having entered the enclosure, proceeded to familiarize himself with the more than half wild ponies. He then lassoed three of them, which, having been secured, he dismissed his charger, and in their turn "winged" the captives, until he had them fairly tired out. This was not accomplished without some peculiar displays of equine obstinacy; but a few smart applications of long oats gave the animals an inclination to continue their race. When they were tolerably well puffed a saddle was placed upon them, and they were forced to gallop round again, an impromptu cord bridle being placed in their mouths. One of them, a bay mare, whom the rough rider emphatically declared to be a "d—d fool of a horse," proving almost too much for the trainer; he called for "Old Bill," and having attached the lariat by which the horse was held to the horn of his saddle, began to drag her round the enclosure, shortening at each circuit the distance between them, a young man following behind vigorously applying a whip to the animal's quarters. One of the crowd of spectators venturing to interpose that the breaker did not understand his business, was in forcible language invited to come in and take a hand himself. This he did not appear disposed to do, and thenceforward the performance was continued without interruption. By and by the equine pupil became more tractable, and having been petted and made something of was released and will be taken up for a second lesson at a future time. The crowd of spectators was very large and but little exception could be taken to the methods, rough as they were, employed in the work of subjugation.

PART II.

A Fireman's Bride.

On Thursday evening Fireman Tom Watson, of the Victoria fire department, was united in marriage to Miss Christine Nelson, at the home of the bride's mother. The firemen presented their comrade on the joyous occasion with a parlor clock, an album and several pieces of silverware, and the headquarter's flag was floated all day, with a streamer of white atop.

That "Glandered" Horse.

Inquiry has been made at the Custom House as to why the horse that accompanied the alleged glandered animal, which was not allowed to land, had been permitted to come ashore. The explanation is that the Veterinary Inspector satisfied himself that the case was not one of genuine glanders, but of "epizootic." There was sufficient in the case to justify him in declaring that the horse ought not to be allowed to come ashore, but not enough to stand in the way of the other animal, which had, in consequence, been allowed to pass through.

Bound for the Sound.

A mettlesome horse owned by Mr. E. A. Morris, created a little excitement for residents on Yates street by running down from Douglas yesterday morning. Reaching the end of the street, he did not stop to investigate but dashed on the wharf, evidently with the intention of going to the Sound. The Olympian had gone, however, a glance was sufficient to convince the intelligent animal of this, and he continued his run to the docking place of the Kingston. Finding her gone, too, he stopped in disgust. No damage was done.

He Tried to Suicide.

Brief mention was made yesterday to an early dip taken in the harbor by a young man whose rescue was accomplished with difficulty. Subsequents show that the affair was not, as at first supposed, an accident, but a deliberate attempt to suicide. The would be self-murderer is a young man who formerly acted as a bartender at the Clarence, and afterwards at the American hotel. He understood his business thoroughly, and determining to start out for himself, he fitted out a saloon on Yates street, for which, however, he was refused a license. This discouraged him, and he took to heavy drinking, his spree ending in the manner above detailed. He is now confined in a cell at the police station.

Robert Shore, the young man mentioned, who was released last evening, again attempted suicide by taking morphine. He was restored, and re-arrested by Sergeant Walker. He declares that he will put himself out of the way on the first convenient occasion.

A NEW INDUSTRY.

A Fruit Preserving Concern Established In This City.

Alfred Few & Co. have begun the business of preserving fruit in this city. Their venture is not a large one, but if they get the encouragement they expect from the wholesale trade they will extend their business. The jams and jellies they make are excellent, and they are put up in glass and wood in the English style. Their packages are very neat indeed. They deserve to succeed. They are engaged in a good work, for if they create a market for the surplus fruit raised on this island they will be public benefactors. It is greatly to be hoped that this enterprising, but rather too modest, firm will receive the patronage they so well deserve.

CAPSIZED IN THE STRAITS.

The Fishing Smack Augusta Overturned in a Gale and the Captain Drowned.

The steamer Cosmopolis plying between Port Townsend and Port Angeles, on Thursday picked up the sloop Augusta with a seaman clinging to the bottom. The Augusta had encountered a heavy sea and capsized. The name of the seaman is Peter Jenson, employed on the craft. He states that the captain and the owner of the Augusta, Olif Anderson, was drowned. The sloop was engaged fishing in the straits he says when the sea got so strong the sloop could not stand it. Jensen said he could not have hung on much longer had he not sighted the steamer Cosmopolis, as he was chilled through and his strength was fast leaving him.

SUPREME COURT.

(Before the Hon. the Chief Justice.)

DeCosmos v. the Corporation of Victoria.—On the 19th October, 1888, an interim injunction was granted in this action to restrain the defendants from causing or permitting sewage, or other offensive matter, to drain into the Johnston street ravine, Mr. DeCosmos relying on the construction of the sewer and the avowed intention to abate the nuisance, took no further steps in the action, but the nuisance not being abated Mr. Charles Wilson and Mr Helmcken moved that the injunction might be made permanent, and in support of the application new service affidavits showing that the ravine was still an abominable nuisance were made.

Mr. Eberts, who appeared for the corporation, pointed out the efforts that the corporation had made, and were still making, to abate the nuisance, and took some technical objection to the present proceedings.

The Chief Justice was of opinion that Mr. DeCosmos had shown every courtesy to the corporation in waiting so long before moving, and made an order declaring the injunction still in force, and to remain in force, until the hearing of the action which, we are informed, will be heard as soon after vacation as possible.

HE IS YOUR FRIEND.

Therefore He Uses Printer's Ink that You May Readily Find Him.

And a Visit to Mr. Seward is all that is Needed to Prove Every Statement He Makes.

There are a great many people in the world who firmly believe that the professions should be carried on by men who are content to let a modest doorplate alone convey to the public knowledge of the avocation of its owner. So strongly rooted is this feeling that physicians regard it as an unwritten law, and even barristers are among the most modest of advertisers. In the case of the optician, it is his privilege and his duty to let the world know what he is doing and where he can be found by the liberal use of printer's ink. Mr. Seward, the New York optician now visiting Victoria, is not practising medicine, nor is he performing surgical operations upon the eye, hence he is not amenable to any unwritten law.

There are so many people who have been unable to get proper glasses, accurately fitted, owing to defects in their eyes which none but a skilful optician or oculist could discover, that they are delighted to find a man who can overcome these defects and improve and preserve the sight. There are hundreds here who have defects of vision which proper glasses would relieve or overcome, but who do not wear glasses because they do not know where to go to be fitted correctly.

Mr. Seward's skill is vouched for by leading oculists, physicians, clergymen, and prominent people in all parts of the United States. The editor of THE COLONIST has inspected many of these letters, and is fully satisfied as to the skill and the credentials of the great optician. It is easy to satisfy anyone who has any doubt about it that Mr. Seward is what he claims to be—a scientific optician, with no superiors in any land in the art of adapting glasses to any and all peculiarities of the eye. People living at a distance should write him for appointments at once, as his stay in Victoria will be short, and appointments are already made several days ahead.

The FAMILY HERALD AND WEEKLY STAR, Montreal, has its enormous circulation because it does not encroach upon the local country paper's work. People everywhere find they need the FAMILY HERALD AND WEEKLY STAR, Montreal, in addition to their own local weekly. The FAMILY HERALD AND WEEKLY STAR has an enormous staff of high-salaried editors, and spends large sums in gathering general news of the world at large, besides employing money freely in adding to its literary miscellany.

THE OCEAN TERMINUS OF THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

PORT CRESCENT.

A FEW UNDENIABLE FACTS:

President T. F. Oakes says the Victoria, Port Crescent and Chehalis Railway will be completed by the 31st December, 1891. This will make Port Crescent the terminus of the strongest corporation on the American Continent. Work on the breakwater will commence immediately and will be completed during next year; the Harbor will then accommodate 120 ships, allowing one cable (see Minard on Harbors) to each large merchant vessel in which to swing, not including twice that number which might be tied up to wharves. Port Crescent will then be possessed of one of the best harbors on the coast.

The soundings on the Company's Map are guaranteed to be correct.

More than 3,000,000 acres of the richest land in the State of Washington, lying to the West and Southwest, are directly tributary to Port Crescent.

It is confidently predicted that in ten years the population of Port Crescent will rival that of Tacoma and Seattle combined.

We strongly recommend to our friends and the public generally the advisability of securing a few lots at present prices. Lots, that to-day can be bought for hundreds, will be worth in a few months as many thousands. We have a limited number of choice lots at present on sale.

YESTERDAY'S DISPATCHES.

Ocean Steamers in Collision.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The steamship Majestic, of the White Star line, and Dania, of the Hamburg-American company, were in collision to-day as both vessels were outward bound. The accident occurred below the quarantine station. The pilot of the Majestic discovered that the tide was swinging her bow over to shallow water. To prevent her from running aground she was sent ahead at full speed for the purpose of getting ahead of the Dania, and to hold the course in the channel. The Majestic being so much larger than the Dania, the latter vessel was drawn by suction over against her. Two of the Majestic's lifeboats were carried away, and three of the Dania's. The latter's bridge and the captain's deckhouse were also damaged. After examination both vessels proceeded.

The Work of Congress.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 2.—The records show that 12,208 bills and 235 joint resolutions were introduced in the House during the session just ended, against 12,609 bills and 233 joint resolutions introduced in the first session of the fiftieth congress.

Train Wreckers on Trial.

TROY, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Justice Grogans police court was crowded this morning when the case of Michael Kiernan, the alleged train wrecker, was called at 10 o'clock. District Attorney Riley and Attorney Denehanty appeared for the people, and Kiernan was represented by Lawyer Ludden, of this city, and Logan, of Albany. Cain was also present and was represented by John T. Norton. Master Workman Lee and a large delegation of Knights also appeared. Superintendent F. A. Harrington, the complainant, and on whose sworn statement Kiernan was arrested, was the first witness. He was cross-examined by Mr. Ludden and his testimony elicited the fact that he had no personal knowledge that the prisoner was in any manner connected with the striking switchmen at Keiler's on Aug. 29. He was in bed either at his home on Water street or at an Albany hotel on that night, and his only knowledge was hearsay backed upon the statements of Pinkerton, Humphrey and Bissell. It was not until several days after the accident that he heard who was suspected of the crime. Cain was placed on the stand as a witness, but on the advice of his counsel, Mr. Norton, he refused to answer any questions. James Young, janitor of the rink, was also brought forward as a witness that Buell was one of the audience at the rink in Albany on the night of the meeting, when it is alledged that the scheme to wreck the train was made up; but on motion of defendants' counsel his testimony was stricken out as immaterial by Justice Gregan. John H. Cobell, who was a witness to Cain's alleged confession, was also present, but his testimony was also deemed immaterial and was not allowed. Mr. Ludden then asked the court to discharge the prisoners on the ground of insufficient evidence, and also for the arrest of Harrington for perjury. Justice Grogan stated that he would reserve his decision until he had seen a copy of the testimony, and that he would adjourn the case until a week from Saturday.

Quick Work.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 2.—The Government printing office made the quickest time on record in getting out the official print of the tariff law. Most of it was in type yesterday, but the proof had to be compared with the original bill at the State department last night, and as there were sixty-five pages in proof this was by no means a simple work. But, under the supervision of Mr. Bryan, of the printing office, it was completed not long after midnight, and before morning the presses had turned out enough copies of the bill to supply the collectors of customs throughout the country. They were mailed to-day, and it is expected that all of them will have reached their destinations by the time the law goes into effect, next Monday.

Asphyxiated.

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—Two men registering at the Hampton house, in Haymarket square, last night, as Wm. Buckley and John Oates, were found in their room this morning, one dead and the other unconscious, owing to their failure to turn off the gas. Oates was removed to the hospital where he still lies in a critical condition. It has been learned that he came from Margaree, C.B., but Buckley's home is unknown. The men did not appear to be in liquor and had evidently come to the city in search of work.

Operation of the New Tariff.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 2.—Commercial agent Smith, at Huddersfield, England, on a report to the Department of State on trade with the United States, says that the action of the house of representatives on the tariff question has had the effect of creating widespread alarm among the manufacturers there. The operation of the new tariff law, with increased duties on textile fabrics, will, it is believed, seriously check the export trade of Huddersfield. This applies particularly to the woolen and worsted trade so strongly intrenched there. There has been a general move on the part of the exporters to anticipate the result of this legislation by large shipments for future demand, the main object being to clear the custom house in time to escape the provisions of the new law. Legitimate trading has thus been pushed to a point where it took a speculative turn, resulting in a large increase of exports. In regard to the anti-tariff agitation at Sheffield, Mr. Smith said that "while certain political and mercantile influences have been set to work among the manufacturers of Sheffield to declare open war on the American policy of protection, the manufacturers and exporters of this district, who are much more vitally concerned, maintain a respectful attitude and await calmly the enforcement of a policy which is the natural and legitimate offspring of a principle and conditions to which the communities in England, as a rule, seem absolute strangers. The general hope is expressed that the tariff legislation and the whole chimerical system of protection will soon be wiped out altogether.

Shooting Affray at Boston.

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—James Toner, aged 41 years, of North Charlestown street, was shot and probably fatally wounded in Haymarket square this morning by an Italian named John Gazzolo, of 117 Blackstone street. Toner, who was formerly a member of Suffolk bar, was convicted some years ago of blackmail upon Mr. Pagani of the North end, and served a portion of five years' sentence in the state prison, being at the time expelled from the bar. Toner was the executor of the estate of Charles Gazzolo, a brother of John, and between the latter and Toner there has been bad blood for some time, owing to the latter's alleged mismanagement of the estate. Gazzolo has threatened to have Toner's life, and to-day he attempted to carry his threat into execution. About 3.30 o'clock Toner was standing near a drug store at the corner of Charleston and Cross streets, engaged in conversation with a friend, when Gazzolo was seen approaching. He spoke to Toner, called him aside, and then, without any preliminary excuse for the proceeding, drew a revolver and fired one shot, which struck Toner in the abdomen. He immediately fell to the sidewalk and a crowd gathered around him. Gazzolo was quickly arrested and taken to the station. The victim was also taken to the station, and Dr. Elliott made an examination of the wound, which he pronounced serious, and possibly fatal.

A Kentucky Lynching.

LOUISVILLE, Oct. 2.—Ernest Humphreys, the negro who shot and killed Dicy Miller, another negro, at Pricetown, Ky., yesterday, was taken from the jail at that place by a mob early this morning and hanged. Miller was the second that Humphreys had killed.

A Fight to the Death.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 2.—At New Albany this morning Wm. Carroll, aged 18, twitted Louis Griggs, aged 21, about being crippled. The latter drew a knife and stabbed Carroll twice, leaving the knife sticking in Carroll's body. In a moment Carroll rose, ran across the street after Griggs, and drawing the knife from the wound plunged it into Griggs' abdomen and immediately afterwards fell dead. Griggs also died in a few minutes.

Church Troubles.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 2.—The trouble that has recently been brewing between Bishop Gilmour and J. F. Groves, editor of the Catholic Knight, which Groves claims is the official organ of the Knights of St John, and which the Bishop denies, culminated this afternoon in the Bishop publishing the decrees of the third counsel of Baltimore. These decrees permit the canonical punishment of publishers who make hostile attacks upon the church authority in their publications. Bishop Gilmour reserves to himself the right of absolution of not only Groves, but of all those who handle, encourage or read the Catholic Knight. Manly Telle, editor of the Catholic Universe, the Bishop's paper, has instituted a suit for libel against the World, which published an article by a Youngstown priest attacking Telle and the Bishop personally. The diocese is greatly excited over the affair.

MRS. BONANZA MACKAY.

Some Revised Details as to Her Very Interesting History.

Louise Hungerford, with a younger sister who is now the Countess of Telfener, the wife of a Italian Count, left New York when about twelve years old, says the Working Woman. John Hungerford was a journeyman barber in New York, but enlisted in the Mexican war; later he was employed at his trade by one George W Ciprico, whose shop in San Francisco was known as "Montgomery baths," and the chair that Jack Hungerford used is pointed out to the customers of the Ciprico barber shop to this day. Mr. Ciprico advanced $500 in gold to his employe, who immediately sent for his daughters. When Louise Hungerford and her sister arrived in San Francisco they went to the house of Mr. Ciprico, who took them into his family, they being nearly the same age of his own daughters. Here they were treated as members of the family, being taught Italian and French and music by the daughters. They lived with their benefactors six or seven years.

In 1865 Hungerford opened a barber shop on his own account at Mokelumne Hill, Cal., and Louise, who was then about nineteen years old, acted as her father's housekeeper—they having one room in the rear of the shop. He was proprietor of but short duration, for he soon "busted" up in business. During this period a Dr. Bryant, who kept a small drug store at Nevada City, about one hundred miles from Mokelumne Hill, paid attention to Louise, and she was married to him after a short courtship. Dr. Bryant, being a man of dissolute habits, died two or three years afterward of delirium tremens, leaving Mrs. Bryant no means of support for herself and daughter Eva, now the Princess Colonna. Her father's failure in business and her husband's death compelled her to seek service in the family of J. W. Walker, brother of the late ex-Governor Walker, of Virginia, and there she met for the first time J. W. Mackay, superintendent of the Bullion mine at Virginia City, Nev. Louise Bryant, for a brief time previous to her going into the service of Mr. Walker, had tried a hand at keeping a boarding house for the miners.

Mr. Mackay was comfortably fixed and could provide her a home, such as the miners used in those days, simply a cabin of two rooms. So he courted and won the Widow Bryant. Her father in the meantime had gone back to his former "boss" and procured employment and helped to pay the youngest daughter's board. Mrs. Mackay was cook and general housekeeper and laundry-woman, and helped entertain her husband's co-workers in the mines.

Mr. Mackay soon after attained great wealth, and Mrs. Mackay and her sister had the advantage of a common school education and could speak fluently Italian and French, through the association of the Ciprico family, who were remarkably well educated—three of the daughters of Mr. Ciprico are school teachers in San Francisco to-day. When Mrs. Mackay, her daughter Eva, and her sister went abroad, it was to get away from her former associates. When she returned for the first time to San Francisco she called upon the Ciprico girls, but from that day to the present she has ignored her former teachers and benefactors.

The people of San Francisco who know the facts as above stated are indignant at Mrs. Jonn W. Mackay's ingratitude to a family that had done so much for her in her early days of poverty and somewhat adventuresome life.

John Hungerford—now known as Col. Hungerford of the United States army—was formerly known as "Jack Hungerford, the barber." He was a good artist, and there is no disgrace attached to his business. Louise earned her daily bread as a boarding-house keeper. But the worst of ingratitude comes in to those who took care of her and gave her the advantages of an early education. This we think the worst of crimes.

The above is a true history of the Bonanza Queen of European society.

FREAK OF A HAND.

Blown Through a Smoke-Stack and Caught on a Rod.

Friday, June 20, Frederick Miller and David Heller, two employes at the furnace at the rolling-mills, were killed by a premature explosion of Hercules powder while blasting out salamander from the bottom of the furnace, says the Brazil Times. Miller was standing directly over the drilled hole at the time of the explosion and was terribly torn and disfigured. Both arms were blown off, but one was found. Every effort to find the other arm proved fruitless until a month later. The workmen saw an object clinging to one of the stay-rods that help to support and keep in position the stacks on the top of the furnace. Through curiosity they climbed to the top and they saw a sight that not only filled them with horror but with wonder. There in full sight of all was a man's hand, with only the stub of an arm attached, tightly clasping the rod above mentioned. There can be no doubt but that the hand is that of the unfortunate Miller. The only theory known for the strange freak of the bodyless hand is that the hand was blown out the top of the high stack, and in coming down the muscles, still active, contracted when the hand struck the rod and fastened to it with a deadly grip. From the position in which Miller was standing the hand could not have reached the position it occupied other than in the above manner. The muscles could not have relaxed much after first contracting else the hand would have fallen.

Curious Brazilian Custom.

They have a curious custom at the burial of unmarried women in Brazil. The coffin, hearse and the livery of the driver must be bright scarlet, the four white horses drawing the hearse must be covered with scarlet nets, and scarlet plumes must deck the horses' heads.

Didn't Sit in the Case.

WOMAN'S WILL.

Men dying make their wills; but wives
Escape a work so sad.
Why should they make what all their lives
The gentle dames have had.—Saxe.

We hold that it is unwarranted and unmanly to assert that woman is in any degree more wilful than man. Women often do seem wilful before men, but it is only when they have right and duty to pursue; in other matters they are ready and willing to bow to and acknowledge the superior judgment.

In all matters pertaining to the care of the home and its internal workings and surroundings, woman certainly shows her will, and in no work is that mighty but gentle will shown to such advantage as in the selection of dyestuffs to be used in domestic and fancy dyeing. Before this work is commenced women buy Diamond Dyes. If, through circumstances, they are unable to shop themselves, then the order is given to husband or son, who often take anything that the dealer gives them. This, however, is not satisfactory to the wife and mother, and the inferior dyes are promptly returned. This is woman's will, but certainly wise and indisputable.

They are the best judges of package dyes, and are always extremely careful that they get Diamond Dyes. In this way all over Canada is woman's will exercised in the matter of dyes. Diamond Dyes are their favorites, and no persuasive eloquence of man could possibly change their will, or even induce them to try any other make.
